GREAT IS ALASKA.

is, as second-class matter.]

Very few of the more intelligent portion of American citizens comprehend the extent and physical characteristics of Alaska. To say that Alaska size. That impression is better secured by a series of relative comparisons. For instance, from extreme North to South is 1,400 miles in an air line, or as far as from Maine to Florda; and from its eastern boundary to the end of the Aleutian Islands is 2,200 miles in an air line, or as far as from Washington city to California. The island of Attu, the western end of the Aleutian chain of islands, is as far west of San Fran-cisco as Maine is east, so that between the extreme eastern and western sections of the United States San Francisco is the great central city.

Or take another basis of comparsion. Alaska is as large as all the New Eng land and Middle States together, Onio, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan, Kentucky, and Tennessee combined, or as large as all the United States east of the Mississippi River and north of Georgia and the Carolinas, or nearly one-sixth of the entire area of the United States. It has a coast line of 18,311 miles, or nearly twice as many as the Atlantic and Pacific coa t line of the remaining portion of the United States. Commencing at the North shore of Dixon Inlet in latitude 54° 40', the coast sweeps in a long regular curve North and west to the entrance of Prince William's Sound, a distance of 550 miles, thence 725 miles South and west to Unimak Pass, at the end of the Alaska Peninsula. From this pass the Aleutian chain of islands sweeps 1,075 miles in a long curve almost to Asia, the dividing line between Russia and the United States being the meridan of 193° west longi-tude. North of Unimak Pass the coast forms a zigzag line to Point Barrow, on the Arctic Ocean, and thence south of east to the boundary.—Alaska

A NOTED BARROOM CLOSED .- The old cafe of the Hoffman House was closed last night, and a new barroom was opened in the Twenty-fifth street wing. The new room is much smaller than the old cafe.

The Hoffman House barroom had a world-wide reputation. It was finish-ed in mahogany. The ceiling was fres-which never left her and felt tired and WANTED—AN AGENT in every section to canvass; $4 to $5 a day made, sells at sight; also a MAN to sell staple goods to dealers, best line $75 a month. The statuary included companion fig-ures of Moorish slaves, carved in wood, and said to have been the work of an unknown hand before the Christian era. Then there were Schlessinger's bronze of "Pan and Bacchante," Ball's "Eve," in marble, and others.

The old cafe was opened fifteen years ago and became a popular resort for politicians and sporting men. It was said last night that that the proprietor, Elward S. Stokes, will not part with the art collection, but that he will probably establish an art gallery in some portion of his hotel.—N. Y. Sun.

Mrs. Rhodie Noah, of this place, was taken in the night with cramping pains and the next day diarrhoea set in. She took half a bottle of blackberry cordial but got no relief. She then sent to me to see if I had anything that would help her. I sent her a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and the first dose relieved her. Another of our neighbors had been sick for about a week and had tried different remedies for diarrhoea but kept getting worse. I sent him the same remedy. Only four doses of it were required to cure him. He says he owes his recovery to this wonderful medicine.—Mrs. Mary Sibley, Sidney, Mich. For sale by L. Stabler & Co.,

The children, ranging in age from three to fifteen years, are all bright-eyed, rosy-checked girls, and they so completely won Mr. Hartman's heart that he at once offered to adopt them.

The mother was willing, so were Ellis Island officials, and the papers were at once drawn up and signed by the interested parties. Then Mr. Hartman, accompanied by his nine daughters and their mother, left Ellis Island to the statement of and took an afternoon train for Dubuque, where nine sons will give them a rousing welcome. The mother is possessed of considerable money, and it is no more than likely that she will mary her brother-in-law.

She was a country girl, pretty, and unused to the ways of city people. Men flattered her and turned her head, until she came to believe she could make a fabulous fortune by going on the stage. She flirted openly with men in the presence of her husband, who re-monstrated, but in vain."

Justice Osborne reserved his decision.

FOUGHT WITH A SNAKE .- Mr. J. A. Edwards, while fishing on Marsh Run a few days ago was attacked by a very large black snake, which made battle with him. He secured a stick and struck at the approaching snake, but owing to the stick being rotten it broke and the snake then reared up in his face. So he caught it around the neck while it coiled around his body. succeeded in getting his knife out of his pocket and opening it with his teeth cut the snake in several places and killed it. The snake when stretched out full length measured eight feet nine inches from tip to tip. When examining the snake there were discovered several young pheasants and other food in its stomach.—Warrenton Virginian.
